Download[2].COVID-19, a new infectious disease caused by a novel coronavirus which originated in China, has spread rapidly worldwide and the number of confirmed cases has now exceeded 113,000. It was then confirmed that it could be transmitted via droplets, so there are increasing concerns regarding aerosolization of viral nucleic acids and viruses. In epidemiology, this disease is known as cluster of pneumonia (COPD). A study was conducted in five hospitals in Osaka and its surrounding areas to investigate the spread of COVID-19 in Japan. This study had two aims: (1) to find the incidence of COVID-19 among patients with diagnosed COPD, and (2) to investigate the spread of COVID-19 among patients with diagnosed COPD. The study was conducted as follows. (1) COVID-19
